Meeting to Be Held On Strike

Offer of Independent Producers to Grant Demands to Be Taken Up—Regarded by Union as the First Break in Ranks.

(By The Associated Press.)
NEW YORK, April 4.—Strike leaders announced today that the anthracite miners' general policy committee will meet here tomorrow to act on a reported offer of several independent producers to grant the strikers their 19 demands immediately if they would return to work. The acceptance of these offers, hailed by the unions as the first break in the ranks of the operators, may result in the negotiation of separate contracts and the reopening of mines, according to union officials.

EFFORTS TO FIND BODY IN COAL MINE CONTINUE

(By The Associated Press.)
NEW YORK, April 4.—C. J. Golden, president of District No. 9, Shamokin, Pa., said at least one anthracite mine in the country is operating regardless of the strike at Locust Gap, Pa. This mine is the Philadelphia and Reading mine, where for three months 30 men have been digging frantically in search of a miner, Stanley Zupski, who disappeared under an avalanche of hard coal last January.

MANY MINERS SEEK NEW POSITIONS

(By The Associated Press.)
WILKES-BARRE, Pa., April 4.—The fourth day of the coal strike in the anthracite fields found many of the 180,000 miners seeking employment in local industries. Others were preparing to leave for their old homes in foreign countries, each departing train carrying its quota of who withdrew savings, saying they never expected to return.

Man Held For Murder Of Wife

(By The Associated Press.)
BALTIMORE, Md., April 4.—Edward T. Mercer, husband of Mrs. Ruth Mercer, whose mutilated body was found Sunday on the beach at Ocean View, Va., was arrested here today on a warrant charging him with the murder of his wife. The accused was found at the Buddy Club in bed. He said he had not been to Ocean View in three or four years.

BUDAPEST, April 4.—An ultimatum proclamation was issued today declaring that with the death of Charles, Otto II, is king of Hungary.

Elisha Keen Jones Passes to Reward

Well Known Danville Citizen and Tobacco Dealer Victim of Engine Pectoris.

Elisha Keen Jones, 73 years old, prominent tobacco merchant of this city for many years, died this morning at 2 o'clock at his home on Main street of heart failure. Mr. Jones had been in bad health for four or five months, but his condition only became critical several days ago.

Elisha Keen Jones was of a distinguished ancestry which has distinguished large this city and section, as if indigenous to the soil. He was the son of Bartlett Jones and Elizabeth Keen, his wife, both of Pittsylvania county.

Born in the county Jan. 15th, 1849, he was, after the death of his parents, reared at "Cottage Hill," about 12 miles from this city, in the family of his uncle, Col. Elisha Keen, a distinguished soldier of the Confederate Army, who also at one time resided in Danville on the site of the Shattuck home and was a member of the Virginia Senate.

Mr. Jones greatly treasured "Cottage Hill" and its memories. He restored it to original bounds and made it his summer home. There, like his first cousin, the late Mrs. William Jones, and the late Mrs. C. D. Langhorne, mother of Vice President Astor and Mrs. Charles Dana Gibson, and this whole family connection adored him.

In his early manhood, with the late Judge H. W. Flournoy, he went on great adventures in Georgia, Texas, and Indian Territory, and led the life of a cattleman in the brave days of old, which enriched his reminiscences.

About 1872 he returned to his native land, and the local history of that day, history will disclose his name written on every page, illumined with testimonials to his probity, enterprise, and splendid success.

At the time of his death he was senior member of the firm of E. K. Jones & Co., one of the largest handlers of tobacco, and associated therein for 25 years with his devoted and beloved kinsman, A. D. Keen.

Mr. Jones served as a member of "Powell's Cleaners Dyers," Phone 486 3-22310

Appraisers Named For Hughes' Estate

Rough Estimate of Its Value Conserved Very Conservative, $2,500,000 Alone Being Left for the Proposed Orphanage.

Five well-known Danville men, were yesterday appointed by the judge of the corporation court as appraisers of the estate of John E. Hughes, whose will was admitted to probate yesterday. The persons named are W. T. Hughes, E. F. Magee, E. B. Young, A. F. Patton and E. B. Meade. The appraisal, it is understood, will be made here but will probably take some time because it will be necessary to visit cities in North and South Carolina where Mr. Hughes owned property.

Careful perusal of the will which was not possible yesterday, since the only copy of the document was immediately needed by the attorney and the executor, reveals several interesting clauses. Julian Meade, attorney for Mr. Hughes, said today that the estimated value of the estate which was made to the court yesterday, slightly over $1,700,000, was a "very rough" appraisal arrived at for the purpose of determining an adequate bond for the executors. By the actual terms of the will the estate is shown to be very much larger and it is believed that the estate will figure up to about three million dollars unless the values represented have shrunk since the will was signed in August, 1920. After the execution of the will, the bequest totaling about $800,000 and the bequest of $250,000 to the General Hospital, there is a clause which provides $2,500,000 for the establishment of the orphanage, half a million dollars of which is to be devoted to the erection of suitable buildings on the Hughes' farm about four miles from the city near Desha. By the actual text of the will, therefore, the estate appears to be very much more valuable than the rough appraisal.

Mr. Hughes, in an early passage of the document, directs that his executors cause my body be reinterred on the ground of the orphanage, the place of my burial, to be modestly marked and protected.

In another clause he pays a tribute to his associates in business, expressing the thought that the material success of John E. Hughes & Co., Inc., is largely due to their faithful co-operation. He directs his executors, not to withdraw my interest from John E. Hughes & Co., Inc., and its dependent corporations in Virginia, North and South Carolina, but to continue to endorse their paper as I have done for a reasonable period after my death to enable stockholders to establish the said corporation firmly without the assistance of my capital, this provision to be especially applied to Randolph Meade Tobacco Co., Inc.

In another clause Mr. Hughes deems it wise to wind up my estate as soon as it may be done in the practice of good business judgment.

After decedent's farm at Desha to his executors for the development of the orphanage the will says, "I also give and bequeath unto my said executors the sum of $2,500,000 to be used and disposed of upon the following trust, which is then detailed in full providing for the establishment of the orphanage for white children of Virginia and North Carolina, half a million dollars to be used in putting up suitable structures and equipment who he stipulates that the Board of Trustees which is to be selected by the elders and deacons of the First Presbyterian church shall be from 'suitable persons in Virginia and North Carolina.' This board is to be composed of not less than five persons who shall have power to make by-laws and the rules of management of the institution. If the church body fail to elect annually then this duty is delegated to the court of Pittsylvania county. Two million dollars of the trust fund is to be invested and the annuity is to support the establishment.

Another clause of the will which

City Street Work Has Been Started

Work was begun today on the city's street paving programme, the R. M. Hudson Company, which has several contracts with the city, putting a force of men to work on Bough and Church streets. Grading work is being done and when this has been completed, a concrete base will be poured for the asphaltic preparation which will form the surface. It will be a few days before the asphalt plant on River street is in full working order, but by the time the two streets named are ready for the top coating, the material will be available.

Spring Freshet Gives Taste To City's Water

During the past few days numerous enquiries have been made by citizens regarding the appearance and taste of the city water. Yesterday in particular there was a pronounced brackish taste to the city's supply which was also cloudy.

Enquiries at the office of the superintendent today elicited the explanation that it is the annual "turnover" of water and the taste and cloudy appearance of the city's water supply is due to the heavy recent rains, which have brought the river sharply above its normal level. Every spring the turnover occurs, the warmth of the spring sun heating the surface water and causing it to rotate. Coming as it does with the spring freshet, which has stirred up the river, making the water muddy, the city water is slightly impinged and it also has an odor. In order to clarify the water it is necessary to use larger amounts of purifying agencies at the filtration plant and discoloration and taste. Indications today were that the water was clearing, and that the taste complained of is gradually going.

The city water is analyzed every day by the city bacteriologist, who has found nothing in the water during the past few days suggestive of harmful impurities.

Woman Farmer Seeks a Seat In National Congress

ALBANY, Ala., April 3.—A woman farmer of Albany seeks a seat in Congress, she said today. She is Mrs. Lelia Seton Edmundson, candidate for a seat in the lower house from the Eighth Alabama district.

Mrs. Edmundson, in her announcement, declared that "there is imperative need for more real dirt farmers in Congress." She is the owner and boss of a 1,600 acre Morgan county farm, where "everything but sugar and coffee are grown."

The Morgan county woman said she had demonstrated on her farm that rural life could be made comfortable and attractive, as well as profitable. She was opposed to going to Congress in the hope that more substantial recognition might be accorded fellow ruralists.

"I don't want to stay long in Congress," she said, "but I want to go to Washington at this time when the farmer is so much in need of assistance."

No Headway Made In Bad Oil Fire

(By The Associated Press.)
SAPULPA, Okla., April 4.—Fire-fighters are making no appreciable headway today to control the loss of three blazing oil storage tanks of the Sapulpa Refining Company. Destructive action of the entire refinery, which is valued at a million dollars, is momentarily expected.

Danville Players Begin Training

Most of Men Under Contract Are Here—Have Already Been Taken to the Park by Abbott for Their First Practice.

The first spring training of baseball players who will constitute the Danville team this year in the race for the pennant, began on yesterday when Manager Tom Abbott and all of the men who have reported, went to Stoneval Jackson park and worked out lightly for the first time. The players were again taken to the grounds this morning and "worked out" in various forms of practice which will get them into condition for more strenuous training in the days to come before the season actually begins.

Abbott has been a very busy man since his arrival in the city early Sunday. Probably two-thirds of the men under contract have arrived and have begun their light practice preparatory to the "real" training. Manager Abbott appears well pleased with Danville and is highly pleased with the material for the Danville club team. Training has not advanced far enough for the manager yet even to begin to speculate on who has the stuff and who hasn't. It is expected that every player under contract will be in the city in the next day or so, when training will begin in full blast. Abbott intends to take the team to the grounds twice a day, for the present, anyway. A force of men has been working on the grounds for some time and although they are considered fairly good shape now, an excellent playing field is assured when the season begins. The new uniforms have arrived but these are being preserved until the opening day. The men are practicing in their old uniforms of last season. There is very little difference in the uniforms. Those worn at home are cream-colored with dark stripes and the one on the road are gray with the stripes. The caps have the initial "D" prominently placed in front and the hose are dark blue.

Check Forger Faces Two More Such Charges

H. D. Gurley, an Alabamian, arrested here Saturday on a charge of forging a check of $33.50 on Hodnett and Speer's jewelry store, faces two additional charges of forging and passing worthless checks of the same amount. The case was set for a morning set for a hearing Thursday.

Gurley was arrested Saturday night at the Southern depot just as he and his wife were preparing to board train No. 23 going south, after complaint had been made by the jewelry store that a worthless check had been passed on them. Gurley was carried to the jail and his wife continued her journey. A lady there she says her mother is critically ill.

It developed this morning that Gurley had presented checks at Johnson's department store and Thompson's Shoe Company on Saturday about the same time he visited the jewelry store. In all three instances the check was made payable to "J. C. Kyle," and signed "J. G. Graveley," and was for the amount of $33.50. The man, a stranger, on each occasion, entered the store, bought a small amount of goods, presented the check and was given the remainder in cash. He said that he was an employee of Graveley, whom he claimed was a painter, and that the check was for his week's wages. As far as known, the two above-mentioned names are fictitious.

The goods were found in Gurley's handbag Saturday night when he was arrested. He at first made a denial, but on being informed that warrants would be procured, he voluntarily opened the satchel and brought forth the goods. He said that he had been about a week ago in search of work. On Saturday, it was said, his wife received a telegram announcing the illness of her mother. Gurley said he was without money and finally resorted to the scheme which he attempted to return to his home. Officers are still working on the cases and will have them ready for trial Thursday.

Reserves Verdict In Theft Case

A charge of larceny against Anna Baker, a young negro, was heard in the police court this morning, and after a lengthy hearing, the mayor postponed his decision in the case until April 15. The charge was arrested Sunday on a warrant sworn out by Lou Garrett, also colored, charging the girl with the theft of a watch, camera, a vanity case and several other minor articles about two months ago. A large number of witnesses for both sides were on hand this morning and some of the testimony was very conflicting.

Lou Garrett charged that the negro took the articles from her house, but on the other hand Anna Baker claims that Sid Tucker, an aged colored man living in the same house with Lou Garrett, gave them to her while the other members of the family were away. Tucker denied this stoutly, stating that he had never given the girl anything in his life but on this testimony, other witnesses for the defendant came forward and corroborated the girl's statement, saying that he has presented gifts to her before. Efforts made by witness to show a friendship on the part of the girl toward Tucker, caused a good deal of laughter among the spectators.

Members of the Garrett family testified that when they left home on the night the goods were stolen, they found a table and that they locked the house securely. When they returned, they say, the doors were still locked, the windows fastened and not a bit of evidence that anyone had broken into the house, but the goods were missing. The old man who admits he carries a key to the house, absolutely denies that he gave the girl the articles, most of which were later found at her house after she was alleged to have confessed to having them. On hearing the evidence the mayor reserved his decision until tomorrow week.

Boston Allen, colored, was fined $2.50 in court on a charge of trespass.

Exposition Is Hitting Its Strike

The second day and evening of the Piedmont exposition found the indoor display of the city, putting a table and that they locked the house securely. When they returned, they say, the doors were still locked, the windows fastened and not a bit of evidence that anyone had broken into the house, but the goods were missing. The old man who admits he carries a key to the house, absolutely denies that he gave the girl the articles, most of which were later found at her house after she was alleged to have confessed to having them. On hearing the evidence the mayor reserved his decision until tomorrow week.

Army Official Shot Dead In Fashionable Home

(By The Associated Press.)
OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., April 4.—Lieutenant Colonel F. W. Dick, attached to the Fort Sill aviation section, was shot to death in the fashionable residence of Jean P. Day, a widely known oil operator. The latter is held pending an investigation.

According to a statement by R. E. Dick, Day returned home after escorting some guests his wife had entertained. He found Mrs. Day struggling in the arms of Colonel Beck. Day is president of the Foursome Producing and Refining Company. Beck was one of the first four aviators in the United States army. He was a widower.

M. O. NELSON IS ELECTED HEAD OF T. P. A. POST

At its annual meeting at the Chamber of Commerce last night, the Danville Protective Association of America elected its officers for the ensuing year and made preliminary preparations for the State convention at the T. P. A. Virginia Division, to be held in the Pike hall in this city, May 5th and 6th, with an anticipated attendance of about 200 delegates. The Danville post alone has about 245 members among whom are many men active in the organized business life of the community.

M. O. Nelson was last night elected president of the post. John B. Harvie, vice president and John A. Hawkins, secretary-treasurer. The local post was shown to be in fine condition and with interest and activities well maintained.

The coming State convention will be particularly interesting by reason of its nearness in point of time to the Virginia Historical Pageant, in Richmond, a project suggested and arranged and developed by its present advanced stage of preparation largely through the efforts of this organization. The pageant is to be held in Richmond immediately after the convention and is expected to attract large numbers of visitors from all over the State.

BARKER CLOSES SERIES OF TALKS HERE LAST NIGHT

Dr. Charles B. Barker, of Washington, D. C., a medical scientist of that city, prominent Rotarian and formerly a Chautauque platform speaker, closed a series of four brilliant addresses last night at the First Presbyterian church under the auspices of the local Rotary Club's committee on boys' work. The theme of the final address last night was "A Father's Responsibility to His Son," and it was handled in the same spirited, vigorous and attractive style as his other three addresses. Dr. Barker is an exceptionally rapid speaker, but he covers a great deal of ground for not one of his four addresses consumed less than an hour in delivery. The directness and force of the speaker and the earnestness of strong convictions were lightened and varied sufficiently by the wit and insight of his addresses. With this combination of powers and qualities he succeeds easily in holding the attention of his hearers and winning the commendation of many. Last night's address was a stirring presentation of the question asked by David of the young man's father, and it was directed particularly at fathers who have failed to measure up to the accepted idea of parental responsibilities. In the afternoon the speaker addressed a large audience of women at the same church on "A Mother's Responsibility to Her Daughter." In all of the series of addresses the speaker manifested fine tact, which did not, however, abate the appealing force of his admonitory discourses.

DENIES CHARGES

MIAMI, Fla., April 3.—E. B. Henson, chief of the flying squadron of prohibition agents now here, appeared before County Solicitor Pine today in answer to a subpoena and denied that he had publicly charged that Dade county officials were permitting wholesale smuggling of liquor, narcotics and other goods.

He declared Mr. Pine said that he wanted to co-operate with local officials in the enforcement of the prohibition laws and had not intended to cast "myself on upon the county."

Mr. Pine began an investigation Saturday following the printing of a statement purporting to come from Mr. Henson by a local newspaper.

Announcement was made today by the county collector that through Col. L. T. Nutt, head of the narcotic division of the internal revenue bureau, who has been overseeing the clean-up work here it had been arranged that the county collector in the future would prosecute liquor cases initiated by the government. They will be used under the State law.

Colonel Nutt, who left tonight for Jacksonville to confer with officials of the Florida East Coast railroad relative to means of stopping the shipment of liquor by rail, expressed satisfaction at the results obtained in halting the flow of liquor here and predicted the doom of the traffic.

STATISTICS ON U. S. REVENUES

WASHINGTON, April 3.—Despite a falling off of more than $600,000,000 in the expected government receipts from income and profits taxes for March, Secretary Mellon announced tonight that the shrinkage in internal revenue collections for the fiscal year ending next June 30 was not likely to be substantial in view of collections of back taxes and increased collections of miscellaneous internal revenue.

But for the fiscal year 1923, Mr. Mellon declared, the total collections of income and profits taxes were likely to be about $1,500,000,000 instead of $1,715,000,000 as estimated in the budget or a falling off of $215,000,000.

Collections of income and profits taxes for March, 1922, he said, have amounted on the basis of daily treasury statements, to about $293,000,000, as compared with estimated income and profits taxes collections for the month of about $450,000,000 and collections in March, 1921, of about $275,000,000. The estimate of $460,000,000 for March was based on the figures for total collections for the year which appeared in the budget, though the treasury has always regarded these figures as subject to much variation because of the shrinkage in business and profits which occurred during the calendar year 1921.

"It is interesting to note that March 1922 collections in the Boston, New York, Philadelphia and San Francisco Federal reserve districts were substantially in accordance with expectations, and that the chief falling off occurred in the Cleveland and Chicago and Richmond districts."

ENTIRE PANEL IN BURCH CASE HAS BEEN DISMISSED

LOS ANGELES, Calif., April 3.—The entire jury panel in the case of Arthur C. Burch, charged with murdering J. Nelson Kennedy, was discharged today by Judge Reeve. The trial was continued until next Monday. Judge Reeve will commence on Wednesday a hearing of charges made by the defense that the panel had been tampered with.

When the case was called today District Attorney Woolwine stated that he wanted an investigation by the court.

The defense charges followed statements of retired members while being examined as to their qualifications as jurors that persons had sought information as to their opinion concerning the Burch case and matters connected with it. Mr. Woolwine said it had been the practice for years past in his taking office for the district attorney to investigate prospective jurors as to their qualifications and integrity.

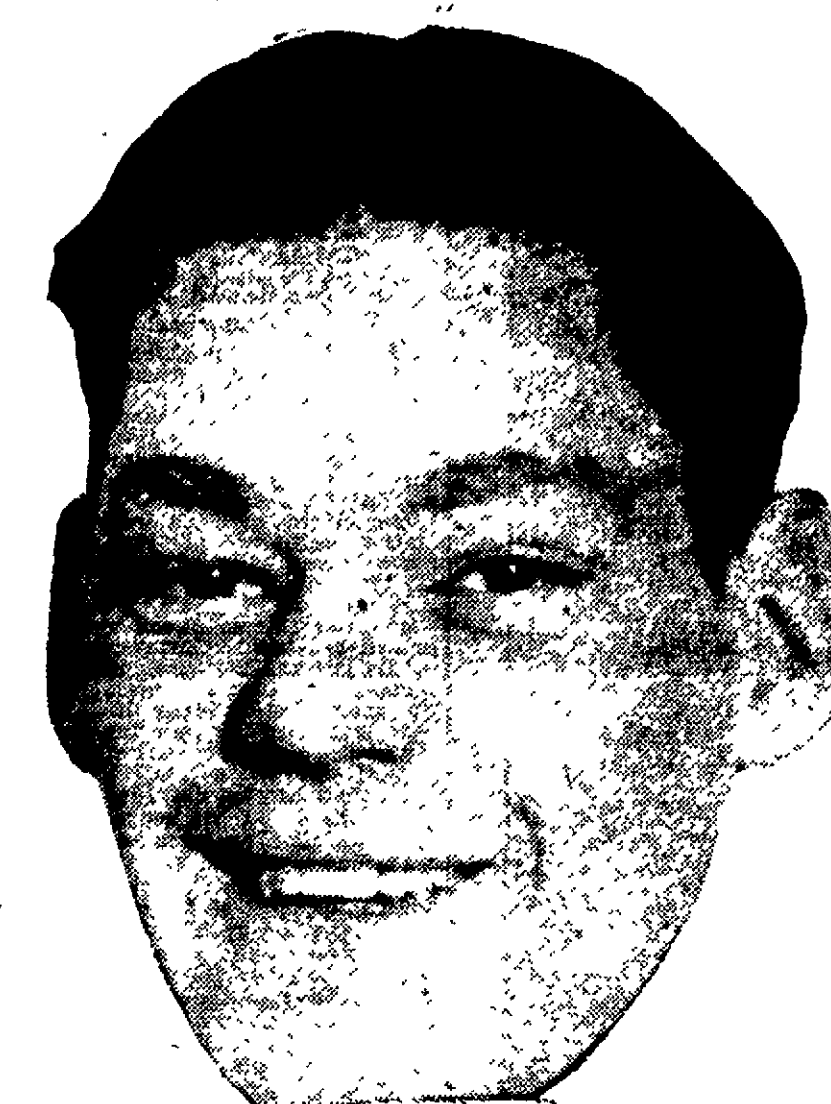

The investigation is legal and is intended to protect the people from persons who might be prejudiced by a public hearing of this entire case, and it is determined that the district attorney is connected with the case in a proper office and not in a biased office, he should be allowed to continue.

Mr. Woolwine added that in one of the statements of Mr. Zee, Burch's attorney, some were connected with the case and it was known to him. He was asked the bounds of the investigation.

When asked whether or not a juror in the defense, Mrs. Rutherford said a juror was named as from the district attorney's office had called at the home and requested her to leave the room while he talked to his mother.

Mr. Woolwine chief counsel for the defense said he would continue the investigation, their relatives.

WORLD' GREATEST SWIMMER 17-YEAR-OLD BOY

JOHNNY WEISSMULLER'S CHAMPIONSHIP SMILE

NEW YORK, April 4.—Seventeen years old and the greatest swimmer of all time, Johnny Weissmuller, Chicago's human fish, holds 16 world records, and he has only been in competition swimming for the past few months. He is a member of the Chicago Athletic Club, and he has been swimming since he was ten. He says Weissmuller, I like speed. It's easy, but training is hard work. Weissmuller can't eat pancakes or pie or fancy desserts or ice cream. And he can't smoke or drink. Those are training regulations.

The coach is William Buchach, a mountainous man of 300 pounds or so, who took the green boy of 15 and taught him how to use his marvelous natural powers.

"The kid is a prodigy," says Buchach. "He never took a lesson in his life until he came to the club. And in less than a year he's captured more records than any other man ever gathered together in his life. Look at this list of world records Weissmuller has piled up:

and neighbors. "The charge of tampering with a jury is of even more importance than the Burch case," he said.

In discharging the panel Judge Reeve requested all jurors who had been personally visited to be in court Wednesday.

A new panel of 150 names was drawn late today.

AD CLASS OF THE Y. M. B. C. MEETS FOR FIRST TIME

The advertising class of the Young Men's Business Club held its first meeting in the club room last evening at eight o'clock. W. R. Meyer, instructor of the class, briefly outlined the kinds of advertising the course will cover.

Mr. W. R. Harrison, chairman of the educational committee, then took the chair and the following officers were elected: President, Elbridge H. Miller; Secretary, Harry S. Fore, secretary and treasurer.

The class will meet every Monday evening in the club room, at eight o'clock. Members who are in retail business for themselves are urged to attend this all important class.

The class also decided to admit ladies provided as many as five or more can be interested.

SHAKESPEARE CLUB WRITES COUNCIL

The ladies of the Shakespeare Study Club of this city have petitioned the council of the official and representative body of the municipality to cable an invitation to Lady Astor, member of the British Parliament, to include her native place, Danville, Va., in her itinerary in her prospective visit to the United States.

This club also endorses the suggestion that Broad street on which the Langhorne home abutted be called Langhorne street as a permanent memorial and tribute to a family which has achieved distinction both in this country and abroad. Herewith is the full text of the club's letter to the Council, which in some inevitable way did not appear in Sunday's issue along with the introduction to follow:

PIEDMONT EXPOSITION

overall, shirts, ladies frocks and all manner of decorative work. One can find here the staple foods milled or manufactured here, a great variety and interesting demonstration of electric devices; a striking miniature exhibition of the home building process from the forests to the finished structure, with a miniature electric logging train hauling the crude timber and the saw-mill output. The road to health is pointed out and illustrated by interesting exhibits, the services of the Hilltop sanitarium, of the hospitals, the welfare organizations and the benefits of the social and literary organization, the religious and social service organizations, and every form of service and attractive illustration or proclamation here. Not only is one taught how to conserve health, but provision is suggested for caring for the victims of disease or accident and even for consigning them to earth in the most satisfactory manner. Then, too, the insurance organizations are there with booths and literature and advertising favors, so as to assure comfort to one's surviving family.

For the living and those who desire to live well, breads and cakes, coffee, refreshments of various kinds, foods confectioneries and all manner of desirable and appetizing things are made on the spot or prepared or bottled in this city. The bakery and candy booths are especially attractive.

The ladies and the effective display of dress fabrics by the Art Show and of embroidery, beadwork and decorative effects particularly attractive. But, from the viewpoint of the children the Danville Lumber and Manufacturing company's exhibit with its moving train is the particular magnet from which even the lure of "free cats" will hardly draw them. Leon Taylor has a fine exhibit of photographic work and helps to perpetuate the memory of one's appearance in the years to come.

From the man's standpoint and that of most of the ladies, the splendid display of applied electricity by the Clarke Electric company is a drawing and holding attraction. The radio phone concerts and the snatching of news out of the air as it is being transmitted, and a fine concert by brilliant vocalists in Pittsburgh last night attracted many.

The exhibits of manufacturing products indicate the quality of the work done here and by towns in the vicinity. There is much to interest and there are the band concerts, the singing entertainment, the dancing and various other diversions.

The Piedmont Exposition struck its stride Monday night. The crowd was large, the music was good and the entertainment features made a strong appeal. The exhibits were on the job and going strong until the gates were closed. The people in attendance were interested in everything and the attendants were kept busy with visitors.

The crowd last night was made up largely of adults but in the afternoon the exposition building was packed with school children who were enjoying themselves hugely. The children also helped to put on part of the entertainment program for the afternoon. The songs that were sung by the children of the intermediate and primary grades fanned much to the occasion.

Polk Miller's quartet in charge of Tony Miller, is one of the drawing cards of the exposition. The boys of the quartet are made to sing in this and other states. The plantation songs still have just as much appeal as they ever did and the voices in the quartet, at the present time, were never better. The tenor is especially good.

Plans for the Style Show Wednesday and Thursday continue to grow apace. There remains no doubt but that the Style Show is going to be the outstanding attraction of the exposition. The merchants who are back of the proposition have entered into the spirit of the scheme with enthusiasm and are sparing no pains to put on an exhibition that will be the equal of anything of the kind ever shown in the South.

It was learned last night that several hundred dollars worth of flowers would be used in connection with the Style Show. These will be furnished by the J. Van Liney Nurseries of Pomona, N. C., which concern has a booth at the exposition.

It was also learned last night that the students at the preparatory schools in Danville are to be invited to attend the Style show in a body. On Wednesday night the student body of D. M. I. will attend. Thursday the girls of R. M. I. and Averett College will attend.

KNIGHTS WILL MEET THURSDAY

The regular stated convocation and annual inspection of the Danville Commandery No. 7, Knights Templar, are scheduled for Thursday evening at 8 o'clock at the Pythian hall. This commandery has nearly 300 members, not a few of them in Henry, Pittsylvania and Halifax counties, but the bulk of them being residents of this city.

Owing to the inability of Eminent Edward H. Fuller, of Richmond, grand generalissimo of the Grand Commandery, to be present, Major R. F. Taylor, of Roanoke, has been designated to make the inspection. No. 7 has been sent out to the members using them and the largest gathering of uniformed knights of this commandery is anticipated which has perhaps ever been held.

Owing to the lack of adequate and convenient facilities, no effort will be made to serve refreshments or serve a banquet, which will probably mark these annual occasions after the temple shall have been completed. The occasion will be a sort of Knight Templar reunion, this city having two past grand commanders, the grand prelate and grand warden all residing in this city.

"WAY DOWN EAST" GOOD PICTURE

Those who thought that "Way Down East" was another of David W. Griffith's "clum pictures" were quickly disillusioned at the Broadway theatre yesterday. Instead, they found an intensely human story, as he puts it in the verbal preface to the photodrama, "a simple story of plain people."

This one of the latest of Griffith's pictures will be shown at the Broadway for the next three days with special music. The cast includes many of those screen actors who won fame in his earlier productions. There is Lillian Gish and Richard Barthelmess in the leading counter parts. In scenic splendor the picture also is equal to any of Griffith's. There are one or two color scenes, something new in fictional photography and numerous delightful rural scenes. The strong moment is the characteristic realism. It is the scene of the heroine from a broken ice jam. It is thrilling.

CARTER-SHUMATE IS POSTPONED

MIAMI, Fla., April 3.—The habeas corpus hearing brought by the attorney for Edgar C. Brady, Chicago automobile man who fatally wounded his wife in a local hotel here several weeks ago and then slashed his throat which was scheduled for today, was indefinitely postponed when it was learned that Brady is in a critical condition in the hospital of the county jail.

Physicians gave no intimation as to the nature of the case other than saying that it had not resulted from his wound.

SHETLAND PONY IS KILLED BY A TRAIN

A Shetland pony belonging to W. H. Clark was fatally injured Saturday morning by train No. 10 at 5:30 at the River street crossing. The pony had strayed on the track when it was broken. A veterinarian put it out of its pain. The pony was a valuable one and highly intelligent and was frequently seen driven about the streets by Mr. Clark.

QUICK RELIEF FROM CONSTIPATION

Get Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

That is the joyful cry of thousands since Dr. Edwards produced Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards, a practicing physician for 17 years and calomel's old-time enemy, discovered the formula for Olive Tablets while treating patients for chronic constipation and torpid livers.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets do not contain calomel, but a healing, soothing vegetable laxative.

No gripping is the "keynote" of these little sugar-coated, olive-colored tablets. They cause the bowels and liver to act normally. They never force them to unnatural action.

If you have a "dark brown" or "black" bad breath—a dull, tired feeling, headache, a torpid liver—constipation, you'll find quick, sure and pleasant results from one or two of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets at bedtime.

Thousands take them every night just to keep right. Try them. 15c and 30c.

Shot Three Times By Brother-in-Law

STANTON, April 4.—Dr. Berkeley Pemberton, dentist, is in a hospital here, the victim of revolver wounds, inflicted by Powell Parker, mechanic, his brother-in-law, here this afternoon. Parker emptied five chambers of a .38-caliber pistol in the former's direction. Dr. Pemberton was wounded in both arms and one shot took effect in the side, but apparently all were flesh wounds and are not thought to have been serious.

Parker immediately surrendered to the police and was put in jail, where he remains late tonight, although efforts were being made to get bail. Parker, seen at the jail tonight, refused to comment on the case. Family difficulties are understood to have caused feeling between the two men, both of whom are 28 years old. They married sisters, the Misses Dunlop. Both have children.

MOTHERS AND DAUGHTERS

Read This Letter from Mrs. W. S. Hughes

Greenville, Del. — "I was under the impression that my eldest daughter had some internal trouble as ever since the first time her sickness appeared she had to go to bed and even had to quit school once for a week. I always gave her Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and myself so I gave it to her and she has received great benefit from it. You can use this letter for a testimonial if you wish, as I cannot say too much about what your medicine has done for me and for my daughter." — Mrs. Wm. S. HUGHES, Greenville, Delaware.

Mother and oftentimes grandmothers have taken and have learned the value of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. So they recommend the medicine to others.

The best test of any medicine is what it has done for others. For nearly fifty years we have published letters from mothers, daughters and women, young and old, recommending the Vegetable Compound. They know what it did for them and are glad to tell others. In your own neighborhood are women who know of its great value.

Mother—daughters, why not try it?

Drowns As Canoe Upsets In Hudson

One of Three Boys Capsized By Steamer Fails to Reach Jersey Shore.

NEW YORK, April 3.—Henry Reichert, one of three boys from the Leake and Watts Home in Westchester, who went canoeing on the Hudson river yesterday, was drowned when a swell from a passing steamer capsized their craft and threw the three into the water. The two others, William Nichols and William Madden, finally made the New Jersey shore at Alpine, where they were found unconscious from exhaustion.

The boys, all 16, started from the New York shore near the city line and slowly paddled across the Hudson.

A steamer passed the trio when they were quite close to the New Jersey shore. The canoe was seen to rock, a swell broke over it, and in a twinkling the little craft was overturned and the three boys were seen clinging to it.

Witnesses in the home, who had watched the canoe with the aid of field glasses, sent out a call for help. The police went to the shore and attracted the attention of a tug captain by firing a shot. They found Nichols and Madden lying motionless on the shore. Reichert had slipped off the canoe and sunk.

The two survivors were brought back by the tug and taken to the home. Nichols was removed to St. Joseph's hospital. There, it was said, his condition was not serious. The canoe was recovered by the police boat John F. Hyland and taken to Pier A.

The Leake and Watts Home is an institution for orphaned boys.

No Change In Textile Strike

LAWRENCE, Mass., April 3.—In an effort to bring about a settlement of the textile strike, Mayor Daniel W. Mahony went to Boston today to confer with Governor Cux. His visit, he said, was to ask the governor to try to induce the state board of conciliation and arbitration to make a prompt investigation and report on the strike.

Five of the mills continued in partial operation today. Edwin F. Green, treasurer of the Pacific mills, the largest plan involved, issued a statement today in which he quoted figures to support his contention that southern competition and a lack of demand for the company's products at present prices made a wage reduction necessary.

Two labor organizations are now trying to direct the strike with a large support of the operatives unorganized. Ben Legere, representing the One Big Union, said today that since President McMahon of the United Textile Workers of America had refused to co-operate with his organization, it would continue its work along its own lines, which he said would be peaceful.

EXTREMES MEET IN SEASON'S BLOUSE MODELS

AMERICA'S whole-hearted acceptance of the sporty looking English tailor-made suit of rough tweed or homespun is having a decided influence upon the blouses of the season. Mannish shirtings and severe shirt which women are buying now to wear with their tweed suits. Stripes are especially favored for these mannish blouses.

However, her delight in the blouses of the American woman from the elaborate blouse which is accepted in polite society for so many varying occasions.

In some of the newer blouses crepe is used only for trimming bands, but in one model the crepe is used to form the entire body, and the loose, flowing sleeves are made of the silk. Little bows of plain satin or crepe ribbon give a Parisian touch to the neckline.

There seems to be a positive increase in the popularity of beads, if such a thing were possible. Beaded blouses are seen among the newest models arrived from Paris, from waist length to long bellows blouses, which reach almost to the hem of the skirt.

Striped voiles are very charming, and some of the newest blouses and other cotton models are in themselves so decorative that almost no trimming is used, except perhaps fagoting and a tiny ribbon bow at the neck.

While the mannish blouse has usually the long, narrow sleeve, the costume blouse of Georgette or other soft silk tends to feature the wide and long sleeve, which has a band of the hand, and is gathered into a cuff or frill at the wrist.

Not easily, however, will women give up the comfort of short and loose sleeves, cut away from the elbow, for evening wear and the short sleeve still remains modish, although the long flowing sleeve is newer and seems dressier.

Card Player Slain After A Battle

Companion Says Robbers Raided Room and Shot Adamo When He Resisted—Other Players Fled.

NEW YORK, April 3.—To the list of recent murders committed in this city there was added yesterday the killing of Joseph Adamo, 32, of No. 210 Crystie street. Adamo's body was discovered early in the morning on the floor of a room at No. 167 Allen street. Chairs had been broken, a table had been overturned. Adamo had been shot through the heart. His watch had stopped at eleven minutes to five, and his money was still in his pockets.

Detectives Namack and La Battaglia of the Clinton street station and Detective Guey, of the homicide squad, after working on the case a few hours, found that Adamo had been in the company Saturday night of Angelo Luzzo, 32, of No. 150 East Houston street. They got from Luzzo what he declared was the true story of the affair.

According to Luzzo there was an all-night card game at the Allen street place, and he and Adamo were players. Early in the morning he said, several robbers entered with drawn revolvers and handcuffs over their faces. Adamo, he said, was slain for resisting them. As soon as the robbers left the other cards players ran away.

In view of the evidences of a bitter fight, the police held Luzzo, who is the proprietor of a coffee house at No. 184 Forsyth street, as a material witness. He will be taken to the district attorney's office today for further questioning.

The vault at Cave Hill cemetery, designed to resist corrosion for a thousand years, is designed to receive the body.

Drops Dead on Links

NEW YORK, April 3.—Wallace T. Jones, president of a chocolate manufacturing company at No. 38 Washington avenue, Brooklyn, dropped dead yesterday afternoon while playing golf on the links of the Apawamis Golf Club, at Rye-on-the-Sound.

Mr. Jones, who was a member of the Apawamis as well as of other country and golf clubs, was 70 years old. His home was at No. 434 Washington street, Brooklyn. With a friend, Mr. Carroll, of Brooklyn, he had played half way around the nine-hole course and had just made a hard drive, when he fell unconscious.

When a doctor arrived Mr. Jones was dead. Conspicuous and super-induced an acute heart attack.

Dorothy Clark Denies Attack By Rawlinson

Girl Actress, Attending High School, Says Mother's Suit Is Baseless.

BOSTON, Mass., April 3.—Miss Dorothy Love Clark, the actress whose mother has brought suit for $200,000 against Herbert Rawlinson, film star, alleging he attacked the girl in New York two years ago, was found yesterday in Lewiston, Me. She flatly contradicts her mother's assertions that Rawlinson ever attacked her. She said she and the actor had always been friends, but that nothing improper had ever taken place between them. She insisted Rawlinson had never even insulted her, and said they were still on the best of terms.

Miss Clark is taking a special course in English at the Lewiston high school and in the afternoon and evenings she acts as teacher of aesthetic dancing in a dancing academy. At the high school she is regarded as a brilliant student. She has won two prizes in public speaking and is a leading member of the school debating team.

Miss Clark still keeps a photograph of Rawlinson on her dresser. Last week she went to Miss Fannie Heath, head of the dancing academy, and asked for an evening off, so that she might go to a theater and see a film in which Rawlinson was starred.

"Mr. Rawlinson and I have been friends for a long time," she said. "But he has always been a gentleman, and there has never been anything objectionable in his conduct toward me. I still entertain a very high regard for him as one of my best friends."

Miss Clark said she had studied dancing with the intention of going on the stage. An injury, she said, prevented her from doing this, and her ambition is now to become a newspaper reporter.

The girl has been in Lewiston a little more than one year. At a recent exhibition given by pupils and teachers at the academy her dancing was then feature of the evening.

Loss Of Thinkers, Russia's Tragedy

WASHINGTON, April 3.—"The tragedy of Russia was the expulsion of her greatest minds," declared Baron Eugene Persson, of Moscow, Russia, in a lecture at the Willard Hotel last night.

"Russia has been standing on the point of a pyramid. However, no one has been as kind to her as Americans," he continued.

Baron Persson discussed "latent power" of human beings. "The air is filled with vibrations," he explained, "and contact between the inner spark and the outside forces creates an irresistible power. All have around them a halo made up of diminutive emanations of the latent force, which purposes of diagnosis—which can be used instead of the X-ray, a harmful process."

Prospect Of Share In $40,000,000 Fails To Thrill Aged Farmer

PHILADELPHIA, April 2.—All the treasure in the world does not lie buried on Cannibal islands, hidden in days when pirates sailed the seas. Nor do modern bucket shop pirates have a monopoly on sudden wealth. Witness the case of Thomas E. Pritchard, of Wilmington, who hears he has only to journey to St. Louis to claim his share in an estate rumored to amount to $40,000,000.

A newspaper advertisement informs Mr. Pritchard that he is one of the heirs to a fortune laid up by three uncles, the last of whom died in 1826.

Mr. Pritchard refuses to be thrilled over the prospect. Throughout his life he has tilled the soil near Bridgeton, and it was only two years ago that he decided to retire and went to Wilmington to live. He is nearly 71.

"I have reached the time when I intend to rest," he said today. "Of course, I am going to St. Louis as soon as I can verify this information. There have been a lot of fakers there already, but there have not been quite clever enough to get the estate."

"But don't think I am going to lose any sleep over the money," he added. "I enjoy sleep too much."

Arbuckle To Take Stand This Week

SAN FRANCISCO, April 3.—Roscoe C. (Fatty) Arbuckle is to take the stand "in the next few days" to tell his own story of the happenings at the Hotel St. Francis party in which he is alleged to have fatally attacked actress, counsel for Arbuckle announced today. The Arbuckle trial, which is on a manslaughter charge in connection with the actress' death, is expected to consume at least two more weeks.

It will be Arbuckle's second appearance on the stand in the three trials of the case. He did not testify at the second trial, the prosecution reading his testimony in the first trial into the record and the defense considering that this was sufficient as far as his personal story was concerned.

It was announced Saturday that documentary evidence tending to contradict the testimony of Jesse Norgaard, a prosecution witness, will be introduced. Norgaard testified that Arbuckle attempted to bribe him to obtain a key to Miss Rapp's room in a City studio where Norgaard was night watchman.

DEATH REMOVES A HAPSBURG.

A monarch who dies in exile is always a pathetic figure and human sympathies are quickly kindled in his behalf, no matter how lacking they were at the time of banishment. So it is with Karl one of the last of the Hapsburgs who was sent away to Madeira by the Allied council after he had made two spectacular attempts to regain his throne, both of them signal failures despite a strong following of monarchists. Since November last he had been living in that semi-tropical country with his wife the former Empress Zita, with a coterie of followers all of them shorn of power and supported by a comparatively meagre allowance prohibitive of any regal splendor to which he had been accustomed. Karl was ill for ten days before he developed pneumonia which quickly took a fatal turn and he died breathing expressions of love for "his people" but resigned to his fate.

Unkind as it may seem to say in the presence of death, his passing in the prime of life relieves those who have since the war striven to pacify Europe of a burden. Karl was by no means a docile exile, and despite the remoteness of his banishment it was well recognized that the Karlist faction scattered throughout his native land was well organized and working till for the opportune time for another effort. Just how strong was the endearment of his following is evidenced by reports of the effect of the news of his death throughout the country when genuine grief was shown.

The situation in which the widow of the former emperor is unique. There is little doubt that with the death of her husband the barriers of exile will be let down, indeed Austria is under no obligation to maintain her. This, however, does not mean that she will lapse into obscurity. A fund has already been raised for her use among the royalists, and there is little doubt but that she will be permitted to return to her native country with her children.

D. L. AREY LEFT $500,000 ESTATE.

SALISBURY, N. C., April 3.—The will of the late D. L. Arey has been filed for probate. It showed the late Mr. Arey was a wealthy man, property owner in Roman Catholic land. It is stated that the will divides the largest estate ever filed in Roman Catholic land.

Ernest C. Arey and Craig Arey, sons of D. L. Arey, are the executors of the estate. The late Mr. Arey was a well-known figure in the community. He was a member of Large Montreal Church Burns.

MONTREAL, April 3.—The Church of the Sacred Heart, one of the largest and most beautiful in the city, was destroyed by fire with a loss of $1,000,000.

The church, which was built in 1888, was a masterpiece of Gothic architecture. It was the largest church in Montreal and one of the largest in Canada.

The fire broke out in the nave of the church and spread rapidly. The flames were seen for miles around the city.

The cause of the fire is not known. The church was empty at the time of the fire.

The fire department arrived within minutes, but the damage was too great. The church was completely destroyed.

The people of Montreal are grieving over the loss of this great landmark. The church was a place of worship and a place of pride for the city.

Jerseyite Is Against Bonus.

WASHINGTON, April 3.—Opposition in the House soldiers' bonus bill was announced today by Senator Frelinghuysen of New Jersey, a Republican member of the finance committee, to which the bill has been referred.

Failure of the House bill to provide means to meet its burden was the basis of Senator Frelinghuysen's objections.

"Congress in distributing so large a public fund," said the New Jersey senator, "owes it to itself and to the country to make a provision for raising that fund. The certificate plan for a cash bonus is in my opinion unsound and unsafe and therefore I cannot vote for the measure."

Grand Jury Is Asked To Probe Whippings.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., April 3.—Judge William E. Fort in circuit court called upon Jefferson county grand jury to investigate whippings and to bring the responsible to justice.

This was the second charge of like nature from the circuit bench within the last six months. Judge H. P.
He had called for a similar investigation. No indictments were returned at that time.

"Such people are malefactors of the worst type working secretly and under cover of darkness," declared Judge Fort in calling for a special investigation "of these affairs."

It is useless to plead that they understand what the law cannot do,"
Judge Fort told the jurors.

People are being whipped and punished for malicious reasons, and even because they have aided the law. You should look into all such cases thoroughly as a grand jury and bring the law enforcement agencies.

April Fool Candy Poisons 60 Pupils.

JERSEY CITY, N. J., April 4.—Sixty pupils of public school No. 1

DRAKES BRANCH, April 4.—(Grapevine Wireless)—Open season for spring cleaning, painting and white-washing, turning the home inside out and making life around the shack one grand, mysterious existence for the tired business man who wants to sit in his favorite chair, smoke his jummy pipe and read the evening paper. We always enjoy the WANT ADS, especially at this time of the year when a general cleaning and swapping of household utilities is in process. Baby buggies, lawn mowers, porch swings, ice boxes, bathing suits, garden tools and electric fans are now in demand, while heating stoves, snow shovels, furnace and electric heaters are being stored or tramped. It is marvelous what a little WANT AD will do sometimes in turning these odds and ends into cash. Seasonable stuff in good condition always commands a fair price, and readers of The Bee are invited to "try their luck" both ways—sell what you don't want and pick up the bargains offered by the other fellow. Turn the minutes spent in reading WANT ADS into dollars.

Doc Shelton has a job at last, he sits day and night in the Celery-Cola booth at the exposition watching the style show flit by.

He tends to business every day. Spring, summer, winter, fall, He never takes a holiday. Not seems to sleep at all.

Sometimes (perhaps) he may be late. As some folks have accused. (The chances are, I calculate. They got their dates confused).

For he is "Johnny on the spot." In fact, sometimes, too soon And brings in March some little tot. That was not due till June.

A Timely Suggestion.

At a lodge meeting on member was reported to be sick and a motion was carried that a committee of three be appointed to visit Brother Jones, sympathize with him and try to cheer him up.

UNREST AMONG WOMEN DUE TO WRONG JOB, SAYS SHE

MRS. GEORGE BURDETT FORD

BY RUTH ABELING

NEW YORK, April 4.—More than 50 per cent. of the married women who were employed before marriage were doing work in which they were not interested.

This startling information comes as the result of a questionnaire sent to several thousand married women by Mrs. George Burdett Ford, prominent New York club woman who will present a complete report on the question at the national convention of the Y. W. C. A. at Hot Springs, Ark., 20 to 27.

Mrs. Ford herself a Smith College graduate, believes much unrest among women is due to girls' easy acceptance of the first job which presents itself at the completion of the school work and their equal willingness to drop that job with a third the moment marriage becomes a possibility.

Early Work Means Much.

"Girls must be brought to a realization of what their early work and their attitude toward it can mean to them after they establish homes of their own," says Mrs. Ford.

"The youngsters who are now in training should be brought to see that their outside job is not a thing to be dropped at the altar, that even if they do not keep on professionally a handed interest should carry over their truly married years so that something, if nothing more than a point of view, will endure to save their later years from emptiness, futility, generation middle-age and other ills which hinder those years from being the best of their life."

Whether or not the married woman who has a large amount of leisure time decides to work without pay in public or private service, matters little.

"The thing which does count is that she must formulate some professional standard to which she will adhere in the face of all temptation."

Should Budget Time.

"Women are apt to work too much and accomplish too little."

"A married woman should budget her time just as she does her money and arranged so that she has some time each day for improvement of her own mental status."

RHYTHM IS THE KEYNOTE OF BEAUTY, SAYS DEAF GIRL

MISS HELEN HECKMAN

MUSKOGEE, Okla., April 4.—A rhythmic rhythm and beauty of mind and soul are more essential than physical care of the body.

So declared Miss Helen Heckman, a winner in a recent national contest for beauty of face and figure.

And you might say that Miss Heckman has danced her way to beauty. This is true in the fact that she has been deaf since infancy.

She is an accomplished artist in tapscoring, piano playing and singing. Her sense of rhythm is so rightly developed that, in spite of deafness, she dances in perfect time with phonograph music.

Miss Heckman's mother had much to do with her accomplishment in rhythm. In learning speech, as a child, Miss Heckman was required to rhythmically walk out phrases of poetry, pausing slightly for a comma or an exclamation, sitting gracefully in a chair for a period and rising or lowering for a question mark. Thus rhythm was the first and greatest factor in Helen's development.

And it led to beauty in figure. Miss Heckman feels that beauty is not a matter of physical appearance, but of the soul. She has been deaf since infancy, but she has been able to develop a great deal of beauty in her soul.

BEGIN HERE TODAY.

After eight years of married life, MARK SABRE realizes that he is neither understood by his prosaic and snobbish wife, MABEL, nor by his colleagues in the firm of Fortune, East and Sabre. A promised partnership in the business has been denied him and promised to be a jealous associate.

TWYNING, a jealous associate, Suddenly an old sweetheart, NONA, now the wife of the dashing LORD TYBAR, returns after two years of travel. Mabel becomes jealous of Nona, who visits Sabre at his office. Sabre suspects that Nona is not happy with Tybar. In the conversation in the office, Sabre realizes that Nona can give him the sympathy and understanding that he craves.

GO ON WITH THE STORY.

Clearly, as it were yesterday, he remembered the day she had declared to him her choice. In the Cathedral cloisters walking together. And suddenly, in the midst of indifferent things, she told him, "I say, Marko, I'm going to marry Lord Tybar."

And his reply, the model of indifference, "Are you, Nona?"

He came upon the picture of himself alone with Nona—alone with her watching her beautiful face—and saying to her, "Look here, there were three things you said these expressions used. Explain them, Nona. Explain 'There' with your glove off. Explain 'Fotsam.' Explain 'Well, I had to come.' Explain them, Nona—for God's sake."

CHAPTER V.

BUT it was October before he asked her to explain them. The Tybars, as he learnt when he next met her a week after her visit to the office, were only at Northrepps for a breathing space after their foreign tour. Through the summer they were going the usual social round, ending in Scotland. But in October, for the shooting and wintering there through the hunting season.

There was the occasion of a little dinner party at Northrepps to which he had come with Mabel, Major Hon-scott, Millet and one or two others were among the guests.

Nona came with them to the door on their departure. Sabre was last down the steps. "Well, I shan't see you again till October," she said.

"No, till October?" He had no more than touched her hand and turned away.

She was close behind him. He heard her give the tiniest little catch at her breath. She said, "Shall I write to you, Marko?"

He turned towards her. She was smiling as though it was a matter of course. "Oh, well, I'm bad at letters, you know."

But their eyes met with no shields before them; and she was wounded, for he just caught her voice as he went down the steps, "Oh, Marko, do write to me!"

He got into the cab. Major Millet had taken the seat next Mabel. As the horse turned, Mabel inquired, "What was Lady Tybar talking to you about all that time?"

He said, "Oh, just saying goodbye."

But he was thinking, "That's a fourth question. Why did you say, Oh, Marko, do write to me?" Or was that the answer to the other questions, although I never asked them?"

CHAPTER VI.

A DRAPER occupied the premises opposite Fortune, East and Sabre's. On an October afternoon, just before 5 o'clock, Sabre saw Nona alight from her car and go into the draper's. He put on his hat and coat and ascended into the street as he crossed the road she came out.

"Hello, Marko!"

"What about having some tea, somewhere?"

"I think that's a good idea."

He suggested the Clover Tea Rooms. She spoke to the chauffeur and accompanied him.

Nona began some account of her summer visitations. Sabre spoke a little of local business. But the subjects were but skirmishers thrown out before dense armies of thoughts. He missed behind, met, and trifled, and rode away. When pretence of "ragging out the meal could no longer be maintained, Nona looked at her watch. We haven't had a particularly enormous tea, but the chauffeur's had none.

Sabre said, "Yes, let's get out of this. It was as though the thing had been a strain."

He put her into the car. She was a very, very quiet. He said, "I've a mind to drive up with you. I'll be a ride, and a walk back."

They were within the gates. It had been a dull day. Evening stood mistily far up the long avenue of the house and in the distances about the park on either hand. Among the trees' masses leaves, a small disquiet stirred. The leaves banked orderly between their parent trunks. Sabre stood as a curious thing when, when stirred, they only trembled in our massed formations, not in breath. If some live thing ran.

He said, "Do you know what this seems to me? It seems as though it was only yesterday, or this morning, that you came to me at the office, and we talked. Well, I want it to be yesterday. I want to go on from there."

She said, "Yes."

He hardly could hear the word. He looked at her. She was as tall as he, but in his eyes was the slim grace of her stature. But her face was averted, and he wanted most terribly to see her face. "Stand a minute and look at me, Nona." He touched her arm. "I want to see your face."

She turned towards him and raised her eyes to his eyes. "Oh, what is it you want to say, Marko?"

There was a flash which glinted upon her lower lip; and about her mouth were trembling movements; and in her throat a pulse beating.

He said, "I want you to say something. I want you to explain some things. Some things you said, Nona, when you came into my room that day and shook hands you said, 'There! when you gave me your hand, you took off your glove and said 'There! I want to know why you said 'There.' And you said, 'Well, I had to come.' And you said you were fotsam. And that night—when we'd been up to you—you said, 'Oh, Marko, do write to me.' I want you to explain what you meant."

She said, "Oh, how can you remember?"

He answered, "Because I remember, you must explain."

"Please let me sit down, Marko." She faltered a little laugh. "I can explain better sitting down."

A felled trunk had been placed against the trees facing towards the parkland. They went to it and he sat beside her. She was upright but bending forward a little over her crossed knees, her hands clasped on them, looking before her across the park.

"You must look at me, Marko," she said.

She very slowly turned her body towards him. He thought her most beautiful and the expression of her beautiful face was most terrible to him in all his emotions.

She spoke very slowly, almost with a perceptible pause between each word. She said, "Well, I tell you I said 'fotsam,' didn't I? If I explain that, you know what I mean. Marko, have you ever looked it up in the dictionary? The dictionary says it terribly. 'Goods shipwrecked and found floating on the sea.' Isn't that, Marko? I suppose that's not really very nice, and I know I was a little bit of a fool. But she did not answer to me. You see, you judge after by what you were. If you're very happy I think it can't matter how old you are. If you look back to when you were happy and then come to now when you're not, it seems a terrible thing and tremendous grief—and you see yourself just floating—drifting farther and farther away from the happy years and just being taken along, taken along, to God knows where. God knows to what."

She put out the palms for her hands towards where misty evening banked somberly across the park. "That's very frightening, Marko."

"Well, all the time there was you, Marko, and I knew I was a terrible fool. I was away it got awful. In those two years I knew I was fotsam. One day—in India—I went and looked at it in the little dictionary in my writing case, and I knew I was a terrible fool. What I did? I crossed out fotsam in the dictionary and wrote Nona. There it was, and it was the most exact thing—'Nona, goods shipwrecked and found floating in the sea.' I meant to write that on the page. I forgot. I left it there and Tony saw it."

Sabre said, "What did he say?" In all she had told him there was something omitted. He knew that his question approached the missing quantity. But she did not answer it.

He had desired her to look at him, but it was he who had turned away. He sat with his head between his hands, his elbows on his knees.

She repeated with rather a plaintive note, as though in his pose she saw some pain she had caused him. "You see, I had known you all my life, Marko."

He said, still looking upon the ground between his feet, "But you haven't explained anything. You've only told me. You haven't explained why."

She said with astounding simplicity, "Well, you see, Marko, I made a mistake. I made a most frightful mistake. I chose. I chose wrong. I ought to have married you, Marko." And his words were a groan. "Nona—Nona—"

I OUGHT TO HAVE MARRIED YOU, MARKO.

She spoke very slowly, almost with a perceptible pause between each word. She said, "Well, I tell you I said 'fotsam,' didn't I? If I explain that, you know what I mean. Marko, have you ever looked it up in the dictionary? The dictionary says it terribly. 'Goods shipwrecked and found floating on the sea.' Isn't that, Marko? Resent Senator New's Use Of Navy Radio To Campaign

WASHINGTON, April 3.—Democratic Senators are aroused at the use of the navy's radio equipment for broadcasting political speeches like that of Senator New, of Indiana, Thursday. They may ask for an investigation.

New spoke to his constituents in Indiana, and was heard there clearly by hundreds of persons. His speech also was picked up in various wave sections of the country. Friends of Albert J. Beveridge, New's opponent, were incensed.

Senator King, of Utah, Democratic member of the naval affairs committee, called on Secretary Denby to protest against the use of the navy radio for political purposes.

Senator King was assured that the broadcasting section in a particular way, and that it was open to Democrats as well as Republicans if they cared to employ it. But King pointed out that an advantage had been given to New which Beveridge could not very well counter.

King called attention also to the fact that the speech was sent out in an aerial wave length of 1,100 meters, which is in the band reserved exclusively for ship communication—600 to 1,600 meters. If the navy had wave lengths to spare, he thought it would be desirable to release them for private broadcasting.

The success of New's experiment has aroused keen interest among politicians who point out the possibility that the radio-telephone may come into general use in political campaigns, saving time and expense. A candidate could address hundreds of his constituents simultaneously, without ever leaving his home. In addition, devices have been perfected which magnify the voice of the speaker and enable him to address crowds in auditoriums or other public meeting places.

The fact that special receiving equipment is necessary to pick up the radio message is, of course, a drawback.

back. It is estimated, however, that a million receiving sets are installed in homes throughout the country at the present time, which would give a speech a fairly wide circulation. And the demand for receiving sets continues to be so great that manufacturers have difficulty in meeting it.

The radio campaigning, it was thought, would be particularly useful in sparsely settled areas, and in reaching voters in inaccessible places. Value was seen also from the fact that expenses of campaigning would be reduced. One of the chief objections to the primary has been the cost it put on candidates by obliging them to conduct a double campaign.

As recently as the 1920 election the suggestion that the radio might be practically employed would have been scouted, but it is being given serious thought at present.

Estate Of Penrose Valued At $744,419

PHILADELPHIA, April 3.—Boies Penrose, late United States senator from Pennsylvania, who died in Washington last December 31, left only $744,419, instead of the immense fortune that his friends believed he had accumulated, according to an appraisal made by W. F. Schaeffer and H. J. Cousley.

The inventory filed with the register of wills showed that the estate consisted of bonds and mortgages to the extent of $44,649 and stocks valued at $699,770. Of the latter his four largest holdings were 4,986 shares of Utah Copper Company stock, valued at $319,104; 2,960 shares of Ray Consolidated Copper Company stock, valued at $45,140; 788 shares of Transportation Company stock, valued at $39,409, and 10,000 shares of Atlantic City and Chelsea Improvement Company stock, valued at $30,000.

The administrator settled with the commonwealth through payment of $64,252 as transfer inheritance tax—10 per cent of the net amount of the estate.

Amazing Daylight Robbery Occurred in New York Sunday

NEW YORK, April 4.—The most amazing daylight robbery New York has known in many years occurred this afternoon in the home of Albert F. Shattuck, retired financier, 19 Washington square, North, when four armed bandits overpowered Mr. and Mrs. Shattuck and several servants, bound them all with rope, locked them in a wine cellar and stole jewelry valued at $90,000.

The robbers ransacked the dwelling for an hour and a half, but as they were leaving, one was captured and in an overcoat he had abandoned in his light blue dressing gown, jewels valued at $20,000 were found.

The alarm was given by the butler who freed himself from his bonds, and running to a neighbor's house while the thieves were still at work, telephoned the police.

Pallbearer Drops Dead During Funeral Service

STAMFORD, Conn., April 4.—Joseph Greeney, bass soloist in St. John's Roman Catholic church here, dropped dead this afternoon while acting as pallbearer at the funeral of his friend, Col. Charles W. Hendrie, former Commander of the 4th Regiment, C. N. G. The funeral was in the reception hall at Arcadia, Sound Beach, the nature study headquarters of Dr. E. F. Bigelow, whose son married a daughter of Col. Hendrie.

Greeney sat in a motor car outside, waiting for the end of the ceremony, to assist in carrying the coffin out as he had helped carry it in a few minutes before. With him sat two or three other pallbearers.

The others heard Greeney gasp and saw him collapse. They were not able to restore him to consciousness. A physician pronounced him dead.

Corporation Court Adjourns for 2 Days

Corporation Court stood adjourned today owing to the death of E. K. Jones, father-in-law of Judge D. Price Withers. No session will be held tomorrow and cases which were set for hearing on April 4th and 5th will come up on April 17th and 18th.

DENTISTS ELECT OFFICERS.

WINSTON-SALEM, N. C., April 3.—At the annual meeting here today of the second district dental society of North Carolina, Dr. John A. McClung, of Winston-Salem, was elected president; Dr. E. G. Click, of Elkin, vice-president; Dr. C. C. Keiser, of Charlotte, secretary-treasurer, and Dr. Phil E. Horton, of this city, chairman of the executive committee.

JOSEPH PENNELL WOULD WIPE OUT BILLBOARDS

of fool advertising is dedicated to them.

ONE of the most distinguished artists in the world is Joseph Pennell, who has declared war on billboards. Famous especially for his etchings, Pennell has been elected with honors by many art societies in America and by practically every country in Europe.

He is 62, a Philadelphian by birth, tall, thin, stoop-shouldered, with gray hair and whiskers. He is the author of many books, including 'The Authorized Life of James McNeill Whistler.'

BY JOSEPH PENNELL. NEW YORK, April 3.—Billboards are a national blot. Every billboard in the United States ought to be abolished.

They steal the beauty of country and town. They are built by vulgar money grabbers to appeal to the illiterate. They are abominations that debauch the country—a positive proof of America's degeneracy.

Why should we have to look at mammoth eyes saved that tell us what to eat and drink and smoke and chew?

Newspapers are places for advertisements. If you don't want to look at them you don't have to. But the billboards glare at you, defacing the cities and defiling the country.

Great advertisers who use the newspapers don't use billboards.

Every spot of beauty in the country is fouled by some gigantic sign devoted to pills and puffs. Even the churches would save you by them.

The bill stickers can't make them artists. They can't get a decent artist scarce to work on them. I know an artist who was said to have turned down an offer of $10,000 rather than have his art reduced to such filth.

Billboards don't appeal to intelligent people, but only to illiterate oafs. America is being flooded with the rubbish of Europe and this form

Widow Of 59 With Only $4.12 Begins Wide Hunt For Her Son

NEW YORK, April 3.—Mrs. Mary Whitaker, widowed mother, who is going into the wheat fields of the west to seek her missing son, Sidney Leroy Ross, left New York today in a heavy mist alone in an old motorcar.

She took with her just $4.12 in cash, a basket of food which will last until Sunday night, her sewing machine, a mattress and her cat, Spots. It is her plan to work her way while she hunts for the missing boy.

Mrs. Whitaker wore a pair of brown overalls, caught up at the knees, and the simplest of clothing.

Mrs. Whitaker will be 60 years old next month. The boy she is seeking will be 21 years old next Sunday. Her destination at first is Kansas City, Mo., but from there she intends to comb Missouri, Kansas, Nebraska and Oklahoma, for she has heard that her son worked in the wheat fields of these four states, and she believes he will be there early in the summer, when she expects to arrive.

Eleven neighbors, two moving men and two newspaper men were on hand to bid her farewell. She shook each by the hand, smiled bravely as she stepped into the car, she said:

"If good wishes count, I'll find him. I've just $4.12. That won't take me far. So I'll have to start work early and keep at it, but I'm willing to do that. And, incidentally, I expect to learn something definite about this motorcar before I've been long on the road."

Then she started off. The machine was a weatherbeaten affair with a small covered body, a sort of half touring, half delivery car, which she was able to pick up cheaply. Pasted on its sides were signs reading: "I am hunting Sidney Leroy Ross. Any information about him will be welcomed by me, his mother."

She had 10 gallons of gasoline, a present from the garage in which she kept the machine. She hoped to make New Brunswick her first stop tonight. Her road west, as she outlined it, lies through Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Indianapolis, St. Louis and to Kansas City. She planned to reach the Missouri gateway to the wheat fields about July 4 and from there to be guided by circumstances.

HALL OF FAME OF TREES WAS PLANTED YESTERDAY

WASHINGTON, April 3.—A "hall of fame" of trees was planted today by the John Burroughs club of Washington in the grounds of the Lincoln Memorial to mark the semi-centennial of the first observance of Arbor Day in the United States. Today was also the birthday of the naturalist. The trees were registered on the honor roll of the American forestry association in memory of Burroughs, Audubon, Whitman, Muir, Thoreau and Emerson.

Theodore Roosevelt, who as a boy knew Burroughs, planted the red oak in his honor. The others were grouped around it in a semi-circle facing the Lincoln Memorial.

Kite and 10 Cents Lead Boy To Death

WASHINGTON, April 4.—A young boy, who was killed by a kite, came entangled in his kite, which was near his home, Walter Thompson, 217 Gubbins street, died yesterday.

The boy's body, lying face down, was taken down from the pole of the kite before it was taken down. Accepting a 10-cent bill, the boy could scale the pole of the Alexander County Light Company, the young climber to the top of the pole. As he neared his entangled kite, he grasped one of the wires and fell dead over a cross-arm of the pole.

Haynes rushed to the boy's home and notified his father, Webster Thompson. The fire department was brought to the scene. Unable to free the lad's body until the current was cut off, a policeman notified the light company, the current was turned off and the boy's body was taken from the pole by linemen of the company. The body was removed to his home.

MIL MINES IN DISTRICT NUMBER ONE ARE IDLE

SCRANTON, Pa., April 3.—All of the anthracite mines in district No. 1 of the United Mine Workers, were idle again today and the men in charge of the miners' headquarters here said the suspension was 100 per cent effective, so far as this district was concerned. None of the operators made any attempt to open the mines and there was no disorder of any kind reported to the authorities.

Doctor's Deposition Is Excluded From Arbuckle's Trial

SAN FRANCISCO, Calif., April 3.—The entire deposition of Dr. Samuel Zabury Graves, of Chicago, was excluded from the record of the third manslaughter trial of Roscoe C. (Fatty) Arbuckle today after a long argument between counsel. A portion of the deposition had been read.

Dr. Graves' statement was held by Judge Harold Louderback to be of no value because the physician could not be absolutely certain that a woman he treated about 10 years ago was really Virginia Rappe, movie actress.

The court also abbreviated the admitted portion of the sworn statement of Dr. Paul Hirschman, of Chicago. Only about 10 per cent of his allegation was allowed in evidence. In this he declared he had met Miss Rappe when she lived in Chicago, and had seen her double up with pain after taking several drinks.

Mrs. Helen Adeline Whitehurst, of Chicago, repudiated that portion of her deposition previously taken, in which she was reported to have stated that Miss Rappe had been seized with attacks at her home on several occasions. She said the seizures occurred only twice.

Huge Wrecking Job Has Begun

CLEVELAND, Ohio, April 3.—The biggest wrecking job in Cleveland's history—the razing of every building, save one, in the area bounded by Prospect avenue, Ontario street, Vine street, Hill, Canal road and West Third street, to make room for Cleveland's new union station on the Public square—has been started.

When it is completed half a dozen famous old landmarks of history, torn and more than a score of other structures of various size will have been demolished and more than five acres of land in the very heart of Cleveland will stand as barren as in the day when the east bank of the Cuyahoga river was grazing land.

The wrecking job is the first step in the 1922 field program of the Cleveland Union Terminals company to construct the new station in the heart of downtown Cleveland, estimated cost of which ranges up to $50,000,000. An expenditure of $12,000,000 during the first year of work on the new station is being contemplated, according to O. P. Van Swearingen, president of the terminals company. Thousands of men will be given employment when the work on the depot gets well under way, he said.

NO WORK WAS DONE IN GEORGES CREEK FIELD

CUMBERLAND, Md., April 3.—No work was done in the Georges Creek coal field today. It was generally admitted by union leaders and operators, but in the upper Potomac field, which with the Georges region forms district No. 14, mines were reported by coal-miners and railroad officials as operating.

The Blazed Trail

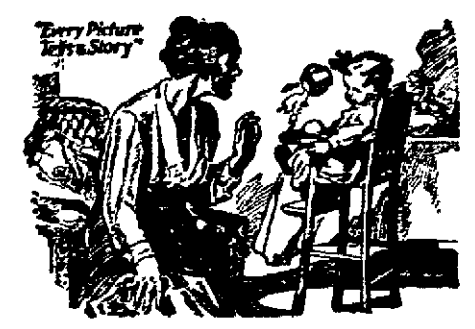

WORKERS in the woods, frequently find the trail blazed by the axes of those who have gone before. Guided by these marks, they easily find their way.

Advertisements perform a similar duty for you in the important business of spending your money. They point the way to values of which you would never know if they were not there to guide you.

Do you read them? Wise shoppers do. They are the economical buyers—the ones who keep themselves strictly up-to-date on the best opportunities for saving money, or spending it judiciously, which is one and the same thing.

Read the advertisements in the paper. Read them to know what's what in the shopping district. Read them because they place before your eyes a moving panorama of business progress. Read them to save money—to save steps—to save disappointments. Read them because they blaze your trail to satisfaction in your every-day buying.

Read Them Regularly. Follow Their Guidance. It Pays.

If you feel nervous and irritable all the time and continually worry over trifles, there's something wrong. Don't give up; back of it all may be just weak kidneys. Just as nerve wear is a cause of kidney weakness, so is kidney trouble a cause for nervousness. If you have backache, "blues" dizzy, nervous spells, headaches, kidney irregularities, a tired, worn feeling, try Doan's Kidney Pills. They are recommended by thousands. Ask your neighbor.

How a Danville Woman Was Freed
Mrs. W. G. Moore, 433 N. Main St., says: "My kidneys and back were in bad condition. Mornings, my back was sore and stiff and I had terrible shooting pains across the small of my back. My nerves were in bad shape. The action of my kidneys was irregular. I heard about Doan's Kidney Pills and used them. Doan's cured me."

Defects Seen In Ship Subsidy Plan

Believes Bill Would Allow Shipping Board to Play Favorites.

WASHINGTON, April 4.—(United Press.)—Numerous safety clauses must be written into President Harding's ship subsidy bill before it can be passed in Congress, many members of the House believe.

side proposal, these members say they now detect a lack of safeguards without which the subsidy, instead of helping American shipping in general, might be made into a proposition under which all the subsidy benefits could be apportioned among a few "favorite" ship concerns and competition destroyed.

Summed up, the complaint is that the measure confers too broad powers on the United States Shipping Board.

The president's plan provides that a majority of the Shipping Board members (four) shall decide who shall get subsidy aid and to what extent. These four members could give one Pacific coast concern a subsidy and refuse it to another Pacific coast company, and the company turned down would have no way of making an official protest.

The president's plan, it is charged, allows absolutely no redress, not even in the form of a hearing before the Shipping Board for a concern whose application for subsidy is rejected.

Other "dangers" in the president's proposal are pointed out as follows:

1.—The Shipping Board is now authorized to build up to 1,500 ships which, board members admit, will bring "practically nothing" on the present market. Some House members charge that they see in this sale a scheme for "handing" the ships to private concerns before the ship subsidy is passed in Congress, after which the ships will double or triple in value.

2.—The subsidy plan authorizes the Shipping Board to sell ships on conditions the board prescribes, providing it stays within a 2 per cent minimum interest rate and 15-year maximum time limit. Under this clause it is claimed the board could sell ships to "influential" concerns, let them defer both interest and principal payments for 15 years, and then give them subsidy aid in the bargain.

If the concerns should fail before the 15 years were up, all the government would get would be the ships, unpaid for and greatly depreciated in value. The government could lose millions this way, it is claimed.

3.—The Shipping Board is given authority to set aside a sum not to exceed $125,000,000 as a construction loan fund, which it can loan as it pleases and on terms the board sets. Under this clause, it is feared, ship concerns which borrowed money from the Shipping Board during the war and whose notes, now worth 20 to 25 cents on the dollar, are still held by the Shipping Board, could now borrow more money and buy

Pretty Girl Used As Decoy

NORFOLK, April 3.—Thelma Collins, 18 years old, of Grigsby place, admitted in Justice Wright's court at Ocean View last night, according to the statement of county officers, that she lured Charles Palmer, a Newport News baseball player, so that two male accomplices might rob him of a couple of diamond rings he wore.

Ernest Twiddy and Eddie Post, each 18, were arrested early today at their homes in Brambleton and are being held for assaulting Palmer about 7 o'clock last night while he was sitting on a sand dune with Miss Collins not far from the cottage line. They dazed him with blows on the head, but Palmer scrambled to his feet and fled.

When arrested, Twiddy and Post admitted they had been at Ocean View, but denied Palmer's charges. Palmer, who was with the arresting officers, Detectives Bell, Morrisette and Nowitzky, identified them as his assailants.

Palmer escaped from the scene of the assault to the home of a naval petty officer named Davis, who accompanied him to Justice Wright's office. On the way they met Miss Collins, and Davis insisted on her accompanying them to the office of the justice. There she is alleged to have lured her part in the attempted robbery and to have given information resulting in the arrest of the men charged with the assault.

Miss Collins was held as a commonwealth's witness and will appear before the grand jury in the county court, convening tomorrow, to testify against Twiddy and Post.

"ANGEL FACE THURSDAY"

Big New Broadway Musical Show At the Majestic Theatre.

George W. Lederer will present Victor Herbert's latest musical comedy "Angel Face" at the Majestic Thursday night, April 6th.

It comes direct from long runs in New York, Philadelphia, Boston, and Chicago, and a transcontinental tour with substantial success and production. If no other factor assured happily for delightful expectancy, the name of Victor Herbert as the composer of the score would perforce lift the engagement into a class of musical imagery of sentiment and phantasy as well assured substances.

Further attest of quality is found in the fact that Harry E. Smith librettist of a number of far-famed hits, sponsored the production. Robert E. Smith, happy producer of jingles, the lyrics. The production was staged by George W. Lederer.

As if this prodigality of varied novel interests were not sufficient to pique the local interest in the forthcoming engagement beyond the ordinary, the Lederer presentation will offer no ordinary chorus girls or male auxiliaries, but that the element hitherto supplied by the correlative of musical comedy will be found pleasantly supplied in attractive feminine and masculine sub-principals as singing, dancing and interpretative aids to other intermediate as well as star principals.

Marguerite Zender, who made a sensational hit on tour last spring in the title role of George M. Cohan's "Mary," John M. Young, a comedian of international repute, and Nora Kelly, who needs no introduction to theatre-goers, are the featured members of the cast.

Priced 30c to $2.50. Seats now selling at office.

Chemical Society Now In Session In Birmingham

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., April 4.—An informational clearing house on a large scale to render the whole range of human information increasingly accessible and useful is keenly needed. Charles L. Reese, an industrial chemist of Wilmington, Del., told the American Chemical society here today at its spring meeting.

"The efficiency of our use of the products of human thought and its records is astoundingly low," he declared. "Why should we not handle the packing, storage, shipping and distribution of knowledge as efficiently as we manage commercial production?"

"It is greatly to be desired that ultimately an international service of this character be established with branches in most of the important countries, that a catalysis such as has befallen Russia and might have befallen all Europe had the world war lasted much longer may not result in the loss to the world of a large part of her wealth of information."

"The great war revealed to America some of the weaknesses of its position. What Germany had in 1914, because of her appreciation of systematized knowledge, we were compelled to create with feverish haste."

"We need not flatter ourselves that America is exceptionally advanced in its consideration of informational needs. The chances are that in Germany, Japan and probably other countries plans have already been formulated for the effective command of world informational resources in the interest of national development and prosperity."

"The time is believed ripe boldly to extend the plans of the National Information Service of the National Research Council. An organizing committee has agreed upon the following principles:

"The desirability of developing a general clearing house for scientific and technological information. The conduct of a free information service to promote research, useful applications of its results and the dissemination of knowledge necessary for human welfare and progress, with a charge for extra service. The encouragement of a miscellaneous request service initially limited to scientific and technological knowledge. The development of a complete co-ordinated machinery for gathering, classifying locating and disseminating information. Utilization by the service of correspondence, informational publications and publicity, to meet the needs of organizations and individuals and to educate the public to appreciate the value of an informational clearing house."

Russell Is Not Sustained By Inquiry Com.

JACKSON, Miss., April 3.—Legislative investigation of charges made by Governor Lee M. Russell that certain insurance interests had maintained a "pernicious" lobby in Jackson incidental to the present session of the legislature and other allegations made by the state legislature passed into history today when the Mississippi House of Representatives adopted the report of its special committee of inquiry which held that the evidence assembled during nearly a month of hearings failed to substantiate the governor's charges.

The issues brought to the floor of the House with the submission of the committee report, decided by a vote of 68 to 29 on a motion to adopt the findings after a spirited debate and a fight by the minority to have the House report merely "received."

The committee in its report did not hold with the governor in any of his contentions. The findings asserting that the evidence disproved the allegations in each case on which the committee could reach a conclusion. On one point, reference by the governor to a damage suit filed against him by Miss Frances Birkhead, a former stenographer as a "suit of blackmail" the committee did not make a decision, the investigators explaining that their limited jurisdictional authority precluded an inquiry of sufficient scope to reach a determination.

Governor Russell declined to comment today on the report of the committee or the action of the House.

WAY DOWN EAST

A Tale Of Love and Lovers in a New Art Form Combining Drama, Painting, Poetry, and Music The Greatest of All Griffith Plays

Every Audience Has Set Spellbound Through the Unfolding Of This Great Production. Many Amazing Scenes

Based on Wm. A. Brady's Famous Play By Lottie Blair Parker and Job. R. Grismer.

A simple, old-fashioned story of plain people, embracing the four seasons. A story of loves—Man and Woman—Mother and baby. A great bell tolling Humanity. A story of laughter—Rabelaisian horseplay. Quaint absurdities—springing, gay barn dances—sleigh bells a-jingling Love's voice—sweet and low—strong and tender—across fragrant fields and twilight streams. In the end, amazing scenes, March storm, ice break-up, Anna and David carried with blinding mass of broken ice down the roaring river.

Special Music Score
Composed and selected by Louis Silvers, and Wm. F. Peters. Rendered by the Broadway De-Luxe Orchestra (Augmented)
Under the direction of Mr. Bert Hollowell, director of the National Theatre Orchestra, Greensboro, N. C.
